Dulles Demands Changes in Obsolete U.N. Charter

Secretary, Addressing Lawyers Here, Hints U. S. May Seek to Have Veto Power Curbed

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in a major policy speech to the American Bar Association this afternoon, called for revision of the "pre-atomic age" United Nations Charter.

He declared the Charter was actually "obsolete" when it was drawn up at the San Francisco Conference in 1945 and contains "serious inadequacies."

the veto provisions, so frequently used by Soviet Russia, of the Charter.

He reminded the gathering that when the Charter was prepared, approved and signed in San Francisco early in 1945, "none of us knew of the atomic bomb which was to fall on Hiroshima on Aug. 6, 1945."

The United States, he said, which has faith in the U.N. will vote in favor at the General Assembly in 1955 for calling a Charter review meeting.

Warned Not to Marry Vermont Man, 40, Slain 3 Days Before Wedding

SHARON, Vt., Aug. 26 (UP)—A farmer's partly-burned body was found tied to rafters in an abandoned schoolhouse today—just three days before his scheduled wedding day—and authorities believed he had been slain by masked men who warned him recently not to get married.

Investigators said it would take at least two strong men to place the body of Frank Krivak, 46, of Sharon high on the rafters where it was found. They believed a blow on the head caused death. There was a gash behind one ear.

Neighbors reported that two masked men threatened Krivak recently and warned him not to go through with his plans to marry Marion Minor, 32, of Windsor next Saturday.

Authorities said the dead man's fiancée had been taken into protective custody.

Krivak's body was discovered by his brother, John, 35, while the latter was passing the schoolhouse near the family farm. Authorities said gasoline-soaked rags near the body apparently had been set fire but for some reason had not burned.

The victim did not return home last night.

Storm Tremor Injures Three in Newton Plant

NEWTON, Aug. 26—Three persons suffered minor injuries when a plate glass window was blown in at the J. M. McManus Company ice cream plant at 244 Needham st. during a brief, sharp thunderstorm early this afternoon.

The injured were Mrs. Pauline Zidracher and Mrs. Alice Fontanny, employees of the nearby Deerfoot Farm Milk Company plant, and John Tedeschi, a construction worker at the General Motors plant. They were taken to Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

There were 16 employees and customers in the plant store when a combination of wind and concussion from a lightning bolt blasted the window from its frame.

Toll Road Hearing Sept. 17 in Cambridge

William F. Callahan, chairman of the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority, today announced a schedule of four county hearings on the route of the east-west toll highway which was tentatively approved by State Commissioner of Public Works John A. Volpe.

The hearings will be held as follows:

Sept. 14—Berkshire County, at the Pittsfield Courthouse.

Sept. 15—Hamden County, at the City Hall, Springfield.

Sept. 16—Worcester County, at the Courthouse in Worcester.

Sept. 17—Middlesex County, at the East Cambridge Courthouse.

Narragansett Results

All of these hearings will be public and will start at 2 p. m. Callahan said maps and detailed descriptions of the route will be made available for inspection two hours before the opening of the hearings, so that they will be able to familiarize themselves with the location of the proposed route. Large-scale maps are on display.

Mildred McDonald to Be Flown Here Tonight

"I DON'T KNOW WHY I DID IT . . . I must have gone out of my mind," police say Mildred McDonald, 25, Somerville stenographer, told them. She is shown while being questioned in New York about slaying of teen-age sister of her former boy friend.

Thought Mary Belittled Her About Brother's Wife—Shot Several Times . . . Victim Fell

By JOSEPH F. DINNEEN JR.

Mildred McDonald of Somerville, 25-year-old state employee who is said to have confessed to Monday's murder of 14-year-old Mary DiRocco, waived rendition in a New York court today, and was to be flown back to Massachusetts late this afternoon or tonight.

The pretty, 100-pound brunette spoke only three words in court. When Magistrate Abraham N. Geller asked if she were willing to return to Massachusetts, she responded softly, "I do consent."

Her attorney, Dwight Allison of Belmont, told reporters outside the courtroom that Miss McDonald had repeated over and over to him, "I want to see my father and mother. How are they?"

She is one of seven children of Alfred J. McDonald, a printing teacher at Somerville's Northeastern Junior High School. Her mother was also a teacher before her marriage.

Mildred was the girl friend of Mary DiRocco's oldest brother, Joseph, until a year ago. She and Joseph broke up their close friendship several months before his marriage to another woman last April.

It has been a police theory that sadness over the separation and Joseph's subsequent wedding deepened into a disturbed mental state which led to Monday's fatal shooting of Joseph's little sister.

Mildred was picked up last night by a Times sq. traffic policeman, who recognized her from a newspaper photograph.

NBC to Reveal School Slate Tomorrow Night

Detailed recommendations of the New Boston Committee regarding the Boston School committee slate will be made tomorrow night at a meeting of the Civic Council, it was announced last night by Dr. Albert S. Murphy, N. B. C. chairman.

Dr. Murphy's announcement came following a four-hour meeting of 24 members of the committee at which, he said, a unanimous vote had been reached on a solution to the current School committee problem.

Says Best Propaganda Weapon Dulled Bar Association Approves Blast at "Book Burning"

The policy-making body of the American Bar Association went firmly on record today as being opposed to "book burning" in all its forms and upheld the freedom of Americans to read.

The 224 member House, with six members from Massachusetts, unanimously approved a resolution that:

"The freedom to read is a corollary of the Constitutional guarantee of freedom of the press and American lawyers should oppose efforts to restrict it."

Attacks on the presence of certain books in government libraries abroad "are often made by zealous and well-meaning people in the name of national security . . . it is right that we should speak plainly now about these developments."

The A. B. A. group conceded that the government "may properly restrict" the contents of its libraries abroad which present a picture of American life and culture.

Police Break Up Teen-Age Petting in Wakefield

WAKEFIELD, Aug. 26—Police have broken up two teen-age petting clubs and questioned more than a dozen boys and girls following a week-long investigation.

The youngsters, between the ages of 12 and 16, who reside in the Greenwood section, were members of the A. A. Club and Cavalry Club. After questioning by police, it was learned the leaders were between 14 and 16 years of age.

St. George B. DeRoche, acting chief, said it was fortunate for the children and parents that the clubs were broken up when they were.

Convict Free After 16 Yrs., Starts Second Honeymoon

NEW YORK, Aug. 26 (AP)—A man freed a week ago after 16 years in prison was on a second honeymoon today with the plump, pretty brunette who divorced him while he was in prison and married him again yesterday.

Miss Conroy, Judge Louis Goldstein, who freed Fred Clanci, 45, performed the ceremony which reunited Clanci and Mrs. Isabella Bayaver.

Bringing to the side of his parents was their sailor son, James, 26, home on an emergency 30-day leave. It was the son who started the action that resulted in the release of his father.

James did not know until this Spring that his father was in prison. He interested the Red Cross, which appealed to Judge Goldstein. An attorney assisted by the court found that Clanci was not properly represented by counsel on a robbery conviction in 1913. He contended, therefore, that the 30-year, first-degree manslaughter term imposed on Fred in 1917 in connection with a bar-room slaying was too harsh.

Judge Goldstein set the 30-year term aside and made the sentence the time; Clanci already had served, thereby freeing him.

After the divorce, Clanci's former wife remarried but her second husband died in 1918. She was in court when Clanci was freed and announced the wedding ceremony, which would re-unite them. Judge Goldstein then promised to perform the ceremony, a promise he kept yesterday.

MISSING STUDENT, Sylvia Plath, 20, found in cellar of her home and taken to hospital.

STUDENT

She called the girl's 18-year brother, Warren, and he discovered his sister hidden behind a carefully screened relative opening under the front porch of the house.

Police Chief Robert P. McEvey said that the girl had taken a jar of water, almost all of which had been consumed, and a jar containing 48 sleeping pills with her into the off-basement hideout.

Some 40 of the sleeping pills were gone when she was discovered.

She was rushed to the Newton-Wellesley Hospital where she is recovering consciousness. Her condition is described as "suspicious." She is in no danger, hospital authorities said.

Chief McEvey and a fellow officer, who had been searching garages and buildings within a one-block radius of the Plath home, crawled into the narrow opening and helped Warren bring his sister into the cellar.

"We searched that cellar Monday night, or thought we did," McEvey told the Globe. "Of course, there is a possibility that she might not have been there when we were. She had a blanket with her that was not reported as missing before she was found."

Chief McEvey said the opening behind which Miss Plath had hidden herself had been carefully screened. She had evidently replaced bundles of firewood usually stored in the space.

The girl's mother, a Boston University professor, told the Globe yesterday that she believed her daughter had become dependent on a temporary inability to turn out creative writing.

Miss Plath, a brilliant student, had been contributing poetry and fiction to national magazines the past several years.

In recent weeks she had been experimenting in creating new works.

She recently felt she was unworthy of the confidence held for her by the people she knew," Mrs. Plath said. "For some time she has been unable to write either fiction or her more recent love poetry. Instead of regarding this as just an arid period that every writer faces at times, she believed something had happened to her mind that it was unable to produce creatively any more."

Rev. William Rice, pastor of the local Unitarian Church, the girl's mother, brother, and grandmother were closeted with her and immediately after she was brought to the hospital.

The attractive girl, clad only in a strapless halter and abbreviated shorts, disappeared from her home at mid-afternoon Monday leaving a note for her mother stating that she had gone for a long walk and would return tomorrow.

The family reported her as "missing" shortly after 5 p. m. Monday and said that she had taken her handbag and a bottle containing about 50 sleeping pills with her.

Miss Plath had a slight bruise over one eye when she was found.

A. Albert Klein

WORCESTER, Aug. 26—A. Albert Klein, 61, of 1 Buckley st., assistant director of the Research and Development Department for the Boston Co. died last night.

Born in Syracuse, N. Y., the son of the late Samuel and Ella Klein, he had lived in Worcester for the past 37 years. He formerly was with the United States Bureau of Standards.

A graduate of the University of Michigan, he was a member of Sigma Phi, an honorary society for engineering students, and a fellow of the American Mineralogical Society.

Mr. Klein was president of Temple Emanuel here for the past 12 years. He was also director of the Worcester Jewish Federation, B'nai B'rith, Jewish Home for the Aged and the Worcester Zionist Organization.

Active in many scientific organizations, he was a member of the American Society for the Advancement of Science, the American Ceramic Society and the American Chemical Society.

Mr. Klein was also former director of the Worcester Planing Association and a member of the Worcester Community Council.

He leaves his wife, Ann (Gibbs) Klein; two sons David Louis of Long Island and Donald Charles of Berkeley, Calif.; two brothers, Dr. Henry M. Klein and Dr. Ephraim Klein, both of Syracuse and four grandchildren.
