Day-Long Search Fails to Find Smith Student

WELLESLEY, Aug. 25—After a fruitless all-day search for a brilliant Smith College poetess, missing since yesterday, and believed suffering from nervous exhaustion, the girl's mother asked that a family picture be printed in the hope it might encourage the girl to report her whereabouts.

Mrs. Aurelia S. Plath, mother of Sylvia Plath, 20, of 28 Elmwood st., said she believed her daughter's behavior was due to a temporary nervous affliction

Reds Balk Red Cross P.O.W. Team

Bar Members From 3 of 5 Prisoner Camps

MUNSAN Korea Aug. 25 (UP)—United Nations members of Joint Red Cross teams said today the Communists refused to allow them to visit prison Camp No. 5 where 2400 Americans were reported to have died of starvation and illness.

Twenty-seven members of joint Red Cross teams returned here today after a three-week trip into North Korea to inspect Communist prison camps.

Brig R. M. Jerram, Britain, senior member of the U.N. team, said he suspected that Allied P. O. W.'s interviewed were well-briefed by the Communists beforehand.

He said there was not a single complaint about conditions or treatment from prisoners they interviewed.

(Associated Press reported Jerram said that except for the few they talked to, the Red Cross team members "were not permitted free access to the others," as required under the armistice terms.)

Jerram said team members were escorted at all times by 15 or 20 "masty little thugs with submachine guns." He said this was supposed "to protect us from an 'unruly populace,' which we never saw."

He described the Red Cross trip into North Korea as a series of minor irritations and frustrations, due chiefly to "the normal oriental procrastination and delays."

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Aug. 25 (AP)—Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., said today the United States believes the presence of India would jeopardize the Korean peace conference.

But India declined formally to stand aside until she knows the decision of both the U.N. Assembly and the Communists. Then she will decide whether she can usefully serve the peace conference.

Lodge expected to gain a victory when the U.N. Assembly votes on the issue, later this week. He has said this week that he has decided to bar India from the conference.

As the 60-nation Political Committee's general debate wound up late today, Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky said the peace conference is doomed to failure if the U.N. refuses to broaden the membership to include non-belligerents such as India.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Aug. 25—A home run by Gary McKee, in the eighth inning capped a one-hit pitching performance by Steve Buckheim as Schenectady, N. Y., eliminated Newton North, 3-2, here today in the first game of the Little League World Series.

McKee's blast over the right field fence gave the Schenectady team a 3-2 lead in the eighth inning at Hancock Hall where he will

Rights of G.I.'s Being Sacrificed, Bricker Asserts

Senator John W. Bricker of Ohio said last night that the judicial rights of the American soldier serving in the NATO countries and Japan have been sacrificed on the altar of international cooperation.

He called the practice of turning over American servicemen for trial in foreign courts "in conflict with the Constitution."

Bricker, who is sponsor of a constitutional amendment which would limit the treaty making powers of the President, spoke before the Judicial Advocates Association banquet at the American Bar Association meeting at the 1st Corps Cadet Army.

Political T.V. Project Ousted From Schools

A camera crew and actors hired to make political films for television for the New Boston Committee were ejected from a Hyde Park school yesterday by Supt. Dennis C. Haley.

The troupe said it had been given permission to use the building by School Committee member Isadore H. Y. Muchnick, recently endorsed for reelection by the N. B. C.

Disclosure that the N. B. C. was using Boston schools as a background for a film came at a State House hearing on the controversial decision to close 17 Boston schools.

Billy Curtis Quick to OK 'Capitalistic' Surroundings

By JAMES H. HAMMOND

Pfc. William Curtis, late of North Korean P. O. W. Camp No. 5, awoke yesterday noon in the "capitalistic" surroundings of his modest home at 874 River st., Mattapan, U. S. A.

He liked it. Instead of the nightmare of a hardened Communist guard, he was greeted by his pretty 22-year-old wife, Catherine.

In the kitchen atop the white-enamelled table was his breakfast: Cantaloupe, juice, fried egg, toast and coffee.

But the prison routine had left its mark on the soldier. He had little appetite for non-prison fare.

Rather than disappoint his eager bride, who had taken the meal, Billy sat down and ate a portion of the breakfast.

Nothing like "civies," the 23-year-old soldier thought. "Hey, honey, where's my clothes," he called to his wife. "I'm not going to wear my khakis if I can help it."

The endorsement committee of the New Boston Committee last night announced it had reached a decision on the controversy over a School Committee slate—but refused to make it public.

After a four-hour meeting of 24 members of the committee, Dr. Albert S. Murray, N. B. C. chairman, said, "By a unanimous vote a solution to the School Committee problem was arrived at."

"This involved all the candidates who were on the last two

Somerville Suspect Denies Any Part in Slaying of Di Rocco Child

By JOSEPH F. DINNEEN JR.

Mildred McDonald, pretty 25-year-old clerical worker wanted for questioning in the Somerville murder of Mary DiRocco, 14, was picked up by police in New York city at 8:15 last night.

Miss McDonald had been sought throughout the East since she vanished after leaving the DiRocco home just before the victim was found shot to death.

Patrolman George F. Grace, on traffic duty at West 43d st. and 8th av., just off Times sq., spotted the missing girl walking along the street. He recognized her from newspaper photographs.

Told of Miss McDonald's arrest, Somerville Police Capt. Joseph Small asked Asst. Somerville Court Clerk Edmund Massello to issue a warrant charging her with murder.

The warrant was given to Detective Robert Brady at Somerville and State Police Lt. David Murphy, who flew to New York to bring the woman back.

She was taken to the West 54th st. police station. Officers there said she was in a hysterical condition and at first denied her identity.

Under questioning, she admitted she was sought for slaying a child, but denied having anything to do with the murder.

Officers said she admitted "going to a room" with the DiRocco girl before the shooting.

Traffic Officer Spots Girl Milling in Theatre Crowd

NEW YORK, Aug. 25—A Manhattan traffic policeman spotted a "confused-looking, pretty young woman" amid thousands of theatre-goers last night, identified her as Mildred McDonald, 25, of Lovell st., Somerville, Mass., and wanted for questioning in the slaying of 14-year-old Mary DiRocco.

Patrolman George F. Grace, 34, said he was directing heavy traffic at 8th av. and 42d st. at 8:15, as thousands made their way toward theatres and movie show areas, when he saw a woman "who looked like that picture in the afternoon paper."

Grace left his post and questioned the girl.

She said, "My name is Mary Anderson, and I come from Springfield, Massachusetts. I've been in New York for three days."

Grace then asked her to name some of the main streets in Springfield. She was unable to do so.

By now he was certain this was the girl whose picture he had seen in a newspaper about a half hour before the slaying.

"You'd better come with me," he ordered.

At the precinct station, the girl was questioned by Det. Frank Ryan. Again she insisted she was Mary Anderson from Springfield. She still wore over her shoulder a woman "who looked like that picture in the afternoon paper."

Shinsky proposed that these countries take part in the conference: United States, Britain, France, Soviet Union, the Chinese People's Republic (Communist China), Poland, Burma, the People's Democratic Republic of Korea (North Korea), South Korea, Czechoslovakia, Indonesia, Syria, Egypt and Mexico.

This resolution is expected to be adopted by the United States Government has been working on virtually all levels of diplomacy to defeat India's proposal.

President of the Republic of Korea, Syngman Rhee, would not attend the conference if India is included on the United Nations side.

The United States also has been busy trying to persuade India to withdraw and to persuade sponsors of a resolution to remove India to the conference. All eyes turned on India's delegate, V. K. Krishna Menon, as he stated his country's position.

He said India was not ready to decide this question before the General Assembly has made its decision and before the Communist Government has stated their desires. He repeated that India would serve only if she could be useful, and she would make up her mind after hearing the two decisions from the two sides.

Bar Members
From 3 of 5
Prisoner Camps

MUNSAN Korea Aug. 25 (UP)—United Nations members of joint Red Cross teams said today the Communists refused to allow them to visit prison Camp No. 5 where 2400 Americans were reported to have died of starvation and illness.

Twenty-seven members of joint Red Cross teams returned here today after a three-week trip into North Korea to inspect Communist prison camps.

Brig R. M. Jerram, Britain, senior member of the U.N. team, said he suspected that Allied P. O. W.'s interviewed were well-briefed by the Communists beforehand.

He said there was not a single complaint about conditions or treatment from prisoners they interviewed.

(Associated Press reported Jerram said that except for the few they talked to, the Red Cross team members "were not permitted free access to the others," as required under the armistice terms.)

Jerram said team members were escorted at all times by 15 or 20 "nasty little thugs with submachine guns." He said this was supposed "to protect us from an 'enraged populace,' which we never saw."

He described the Red Cross trip into North Korea as a series of minor irritations and frustrations, due chiefly to "the normal oriental procrastination and delays."

Day-Long Search Fails to Find Smith Student

WELLESLEY, Aug. 25—After a fruitless all-day search for a brilliant Smith College poetess, missing since yesterday, and believed suffering from nervous exhaustion, the girl's mother asked that a family picture be printed in the hope it might encourage the girl to report her whereabouts.

Mrs. Aurelia S. Plath, mother of Sylvia Plath, 20, of 26 Elmwood st., said she believed her daughter's behavior was due to a temporary nervous affliction linked with her creative writing.

"She recently felt she was unworthy of the confidence held for her by the people she knew," Mrs. Plath said. "For some time she has been unable to write either fiction, or her more recent love, poetry."

"Instead of regarding this as just an arid period that every writer faces at times, she believed something had happened to her mind, that it was unable to produce creatively any more."
